

To improve the life outcomes of young men and boys of color

Building Capacity : Professionals

WORKING WITH BOYS OF COLOR WORKSHOP SERIES

The "Working with Boys of Color" Workshop series assists participants to increase their understanding of working with young men of color. The focus areas will be inclusive of the four multi-dimensional areas of academic engagement, behavioral engagement, cognitive engagement, and affective engagement. During this workshop, participants also take a deeper look at systemic inequalities, traditional American dispositions about young men and boys of color, and community systems that affect the educational outcomes of students of color, but particularly young men and boys of color.

Using videos, movement-based activities, songs, laughter, and sometimes tears, this workshop will increase the capacity of participants who serve young men and boys of color to improve the outcomes of this group by creating environments that are designed through an equity lens.
